THE

1963 TIDE

MR. STANLEY A. JACKSON

To Mr. Stanley A. Jackson, our class advisor, our class play director, in gratitude for his deep and warm understanding of us. We take great pride in his friendship.

Successful teaching is based on communication between student and teacher. The teacher with a sincere interest in his students as individuals achieves this ideal. This our Mr. Jackson has accomplished. His success formula radiates his humor, his honesty, and his friendliness. Throughout our years together, Mr. Jackson has demonstrated his wish for our success academically.

SCHOOL COMMITTEE

Schools do not function of themselves; schools need direction and understanding. The town of Marshfield in its wise choice of school committee personnel services the school system toward goals of high achievement with perception and responsibility. Fortunate indeed are the youth of the community who receive the benefits of the educational activities that go on because of the constructive understanding of our school committee members. We, the members of the class of 1963, wish to express our gratitude for the many progressive and up-to-date educational experiences provided us during our school years in Marshfield. Thank YOU, each and everyone!

Superintendent Edwin Martinson, Robert F. Archer, Richard R. Ketchum, Secretary Elizabeth S. Hatch, and Chairman William C. MacDonald.

James P. Romeo, Principal

Edwin A. Martinson, Superintendent

The character of a dynamic educational set-up requires dynamic leadership, and our two administrators have through the years demonstrated this positive approach. Both Mr. Edwin A. Martinson, our genial superintendent of schools, and Mr. James P. Romeo, our kind high school principal, have worked hard and long to effect the policies and the measures necessary to keep Marshfield education at the top. We, the Seniors, wish to make permanent this record of our appreciation for the dedication to youth exhibited through action by these two outstanding, capable administrators. We thank YOU, Mr. Edwin A. Martinson and Mr. James P. Romeo!

As Our tri-um-phant mo-mest hours we must turn to sad a course we've dai-ly chan-ged. Our as-pir-a-tions quell our fears as we pur-sue the goal for which we've start-ed. We leave our homes, our shel-tered fires, our

1962

The school year 1962-1963 has been an exciting one for us, the junior class. Upperclassmen at last, we have enthusiastically presented our play "The Little Dog Laughed" and have sent two representatives to Girls' and Boys' State.

Through the assistance of our class adviser, Miss Mary Russell, we sponsored a very successful candy sale. Now we are looking forward to our senior year with the thought "It is much less what we do than what we think, which fits us for the future."

C L A S S

How did 175 Freshmen feel when they surged into an utterly new universe, different from beginning to end? We were first impressed by the modern symmetry of our new high school; when our awe wore off we found much work to do.

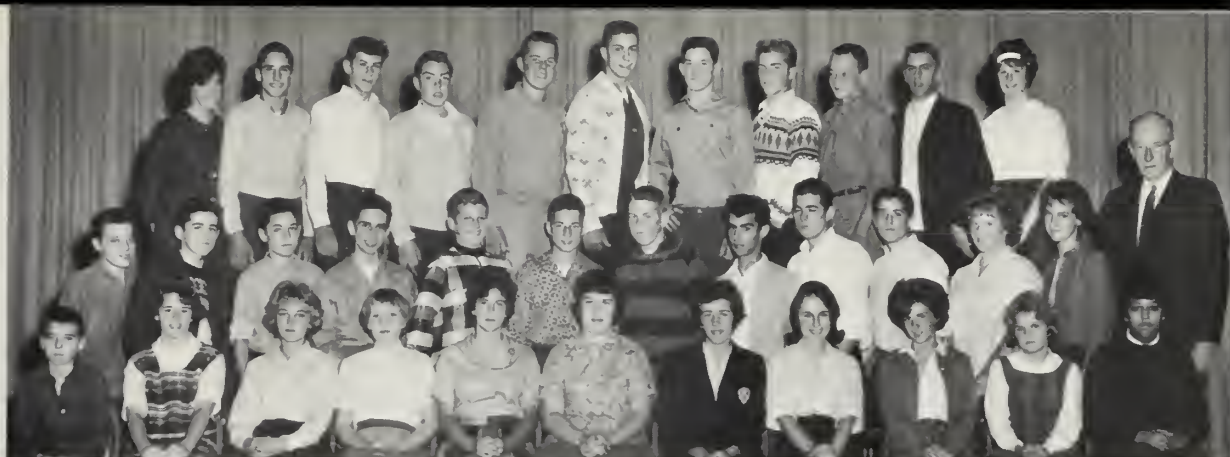

Many Freshmen engaged in sports and other extracurricular activities. We also turned to the task of supplementing our class treasury by collecting dues. We are now looking forward to next year when we will be middle-classmen.

ACTIVITIES

Sharon Hart listens to the healthy advice given by the school nurse, Mrs. Smith.

French students, directed by Mrs. Brown, listen to the language they hope to master.

Brian McGuinn and Connie Reese consult with Mr. Burgess and Miss Cutts, the Guidance advisers.

Mr. Cameron directs the special language class, which meets after school.

The TEEN TRAVELER, produced by the advanced English III class, appeared in the BOSTON TRAVELER.

The Reading Laboratory is conducted by Mr. Gray.

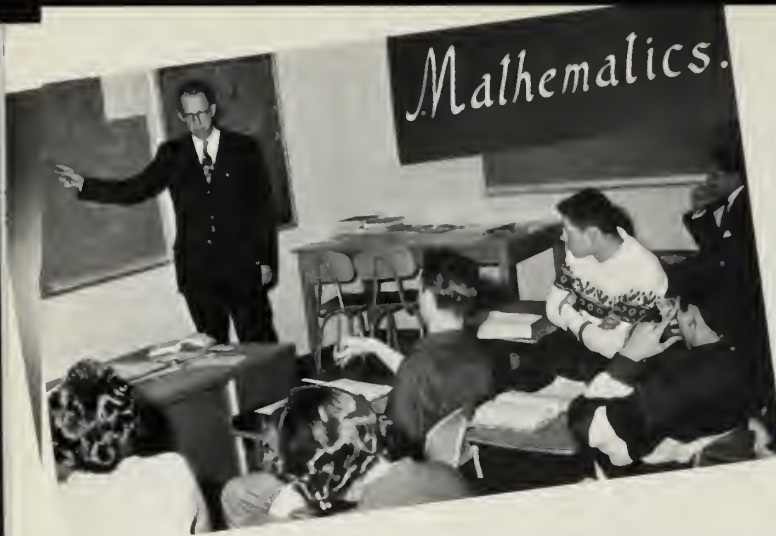

Mr. McElearney's Latin class discusses the exploits of Caesar.

This English III class gives serious thought to the question asked by Mrs. Ross.

Mr. Larson lectures on the history of a free people.

Mr. Pratt discusses a geometry theorem.

Mr. Scott's Algebra II students attempt to solve the unknown.

Mr. MacConnell guides the boys through their gymnastic paces.

Mr. Searfoss conducts a biology lecture.

Mr. Jackson's Shorthand II class transcribes a letter.

Lennie Taylor, Ronnie McGrath, and Roger Archambault discuss their metal working project with Mr. Perkins.

Students take advantage of the school Library facilities.

Woodworking students are busy preparing for an exhibit in March.

These girls hope that their many hours of practice will result in a license.

THE TIDE STAFF

Four years ago an incoming tide brought us to Marshfield High School. In the course of our stay here, we have carried through many extracurricular activities and brought to completion our academic responsibilities. To the school faculty and our administration for their demonstrated wisdom and understanding of us, we wish to express our grateful appreciation. Remembering well that "to youth belongs the future," we now leave Marshfield High School reluctantly on an outgoing tide to embark on a new adventure in life. However, the record of our high school careers remains recorded in this TIDE!

Our thanks go to Mrs. Idyla Etelman and Miss Elizabeth Ellard for their cooperation in helping us preserve the memories of this important period in our lives.

Sincerely,

Brian McGuinn

STUDENT COUNCIL

The school Student Council provides a superb opportunity for each pupil to express himself through an elected representative on issues which he considers important. This is training in leadership and in the democratic process.

Marshfield was happy to serve as host to the Spring Convention of the South-eastern Branch of Massachusetts Student Council on April 24, 1962. Participating in this conference were forty secondary schools who sent delegates, representatives, and faculty advisers to discuss the convention's theme: "THE AMERICAN HIGH SCHOOL: A PERSPECTIVE."

The members of the council hope that each student at Marshfield will always consider the council as a place where students can test not only their civic, social, and ethical consciences, but also their judgment as well.

The Marshalairs sing at the N.H.S. induction.

As their gift to the school, the National Honor Society of 1961-1962 contributed twenty books to the library. In April, Linda Lantz, Brian McGuinn, and Christine McCarty were elected as the new members. Gail Bullock, Pamela Hinton, John Nunley, and Susan Taylor were inducted at the ceremonies held on

THE NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

October 11, bringing the total membership to seven. Officers chosen were: Linda Lantz, President; Christine McCarty, Secretary; Gail Bullock, Treasurer; and John Nunley, Representative to the Student Council.

This fall we held a record hop -- "Scintillating Swingeroo" -- on the Saturday night after the Bridgewater football game.

As our project this year we are arranging for awards to be given to industrial arts boys who have demonstrated outstanding excellence and aptitude in their work.

The school year has seen an increase in the school's library facilities. Now housing 2750 books, its shelves gain volumes daily. The library has an exceptional magazine collection for both teachers and students, a large reference section, reading lists, reserve materials, and a special teachers' library. The inter-library loan system enlarges the library's dimensions. As an added service, Miss Woodward instructs all pupils in research work.

The forty-four librarians learn as they serve. They work on such library fundamentals as bookbinding, ditto work, desk duties, and filing books and magazines. In November the librarians sponsored a successful Book Fair. Marshfield High School Library was host to last year's area meeting of librarians. The library renders invaluable services to the school.

AUDIO-VISUAL CLUB

The audio-visual club consists of thirty members from the freshman and sophomore classes. These students are taught to run projectors and other equipment which may be used in the classroom. These students are responsible for all equipment, delivery of equipment to various rooms as requested, and knowledge of operation of/and minor repairs of equipment.

The members are scheduled to meet during one to three of their study periods per week.

RAM-BLER STAFF 1962-1963

Slow to get started, the newly organized newspaper staff, headed by Betty Kirk of the senior class, has decided to publish a few-paged paper frequently rather than a many-paged paper twice during the school year. In this way the staff hopes to keep the news alive.

1962 — 1963

During the year, school spirit grew stronger and helped the cheerleaders to root our Rams toward many victories. Each "Give us an M" brought rallying roars from the crowd. This was due in part to the successful rallies planned by the cheerleaders and carried through.

COME ON, GREEN
COME ON, WHITE
COME ON, TEAM FIGHT!

roared the crowd as an exciting run brought a touchdown . . . and then BASKETBALL! Basket after basket swished through the hoops . . . Marshfield WINS! and again and again resounded:

FIELD HOCKEY — 1962

Although this year's hockey team did not win the championship, it had a very successful season with seven wins, two losses, and one tie.

There were many exciting and spirited games during the season. One such game was with Norwell. Both teams, in order to get at the ball, had to slide through big puddles covered with wet, sticky sawdust. Five or six girls at a time found themselves sitting on the ground. Fighting spirit and determination prevailed throughout the season.

The departing seniors hope next year's team brings the championship back to Marshfield.

BASKETBALL — 1963

"To the victor belongs the spoils" earmarked the winning basketball teams this year. Pacing the victorious boys' team was a spirited group of girls determined to bring championship glory to the school. One particular loss during the season was most painful, the loss to Hanover at Hanover by ONE point . . . in OVERTIME! Though the girls fought hard they could not overcome the odds against them. Game after game eventually brought an exciting season to its end . . . On to Victory . . . Marshfield High!

Marshfield Rolls On

A three-sport brother battery . . . four starters related by marriage . . . all five starters with football muscle . . . a crack golfer are the ingredients.

Coach of the unusual combine is third-year mentor John Erickson, who graduated from Dartmouth High (1955) and Northeastern (1959).

Simmons, who is new to the varsity, is 6-1 as is co-junior Don Henderson.

Mike Henderson is 5-9, and McGuinn six-feet with both and Simmons all 17 years old.

Simmons actually shares the pivot with senior reserve Jim Scott who supplies real stretch and rebounding at 6-5.

McGuinn, who is president of the Senior class and honor society, is the golfer, one of the best in South Shore school circles.

With Linskey and Lambert, bench help comes from Dave Armstrong, Dick Nicholson and Geoff Mann

Mike Henderson, McGuinn and Don Henderson all are starters from a year ago.

Chandler, who is up from the jayvees, is tallest at 6-2, yet youngest as a 15-year-old Sophomore.

And the clan, with all that kinship, football muscle and golf sharpshooting looks Boston Garden and Eastmass tourney-bound.

THE MAJORETTES

High-stepping out to the beat of the band tunes, the Majorettes set the strutting pace of the band contingent. Mid-game activity during the football season demonstrates the routines of these hard working girls. Indoor rallies give the student body a close opportunity to watch the girls' agility with their batons. This peppy group render service both entertaining and interesting.
